I was seriously afflicted with a cough for several years, and last fall had a more severe cough than ever before. I have used many remedies without receiving much relief, and being recommended to try a bottle of Chamberlain's Cough Remedy, by a friend, who, knowing me to be a poor widow, gave it to me. I tried it, and with the most gratifying results. The first bottle relieved me very much and the second bottle has absolutely cured me. I have not had as good health for twenty years. I give this certificate without solicitation, simply in appreciation of the gratitude felt for the cure effected.—Respectfully, MRS. MARY A. BEARD, Claremore, Ark. For sale by A. R. FOR MURDER

Paul Zeltner on Trial.

The Jury Empaneled and the Testimony Being Taken.

The trial of Paul Zeltner was begun in Common Pleas Court last Monday morning. The prisoner, with his brother John, is charged with the killing of Attorney Westenhaver at Hoytsville on March 25 last.

A brief review of the tragedy, still fresh in the minds of the people of Wood county, is as follows:

During a civil action in a Hoytsville justice's court in which E. H. Westenhaver was suing John and Paul Zeltner for some attorney fees the brothers became frenzied at the act of Mr. Westenhaver, and both drawing their revolvers, the attorney was shot five times, dying soon after.

The brothers hurriedly left town on their horses and reaching their home held a large crowd of pursuers at bay for 17 hours with their repeating rifles, and during the time they were besieged Clarence Wittenmyer, a young married man of Hoytsville, was killed by a bullet which came from the direction of the Zeltner house.

The Zeltners surrendered the following morning to Sheriff Kingsbury and the Bloomdale Rifles, and were safely taken to the county jail. At the preliminary hearing before Mayor Campbell they plead not guilty and were bound over to the Common Pleas Court, charged with murder.

The grand jury investigated their cases and the brothers were indicted for murder in the first degree for the killing of Westenhaver, and manslaughter for the killing of Wittenmyer.

Judge Schaefferberger will conduct the case against Paul, while Judge Taylor will conduct the trial of John Zeltner. Nearly two days were required to secure a jury, and it was late in the afternoon of Tuesday when the last man was found to complete the list of jurors. The names of the twelve men who are chosen to decide the fate of the unfortunate prisoner are as follows:

E. F. Metzger, school teacher, of Troy.
H. L. Baker, merchant, of Freedom.
J. L. Kramer, farmer, of Plain.
Willis Day, carpenter, of Risingsun.
E. A. Barnard, carpenter, of Bowling Green.

Oshah Culver, miller, of Bowling Green.
Fred Sellschott, farmer, of Troy.

Morgan Withrow, farmer, of Plain.
Victor Constable, farmer, of Plain.
Ira Shook, merchant, of Stony Ridge.
W. O. King, hotelkeeper, of Pemberville.

Charles R. Stewart, carpenter, of Bowling Green.

The oath was then administered to the jury, after which Prosecuting Attorney E. G. McClelland presented the case in behalf of the State. His arguments were made along the line of the story of the crime, occupying about 30 minutes. The State expects to make a conviction on first degree murder and will conduct the case to that end.

Attorney Dunn, who defends the prisoner, then followed, and much interest was taken in his arguments, as everyone was curious to know the line of defense. He plainly showed that he expects to secure a conviction of manslaughter for the prisoner. He gave a brief history of the life of the Zeltner brothers up to the present time, referring to them as "German farmers who gladly accepted honest toil of any nature." Having accumulated some money they took up two farms of 80 acres each of timberland in Jackson township, and by hard labor succeeded in having therefrom comfortable homes in which to enjoy their labors.

The task of examining witnesses was then begun and is occupying the balance of the week.

Attorneys F. A. Baldwin and W. B. Ramsey will assist the defense.

Editor Huddle Bound Over.

The case of the State of Ohio vs. C. L. Huddle, editor of the North Baltimore News, for printing an alleged libelous article reflecting on the character of Editor A. B. Smith, of the Times, was heard before Squire Arnold Saturday. Mr. Huddle waived examination and was bound over in the sum of $100.—Sentinel.

Mr. P. Ketcham of Pike City, Cal., says: "During my brother's late sickness from acute rheumatism, Chamberlain's Pain Balm was the only remedy that gave him any relief." Many others have testified to the prompt relief from pain which this liniment affords. For sale by A. R. Champney, Druggist.

GEORGE G. GUYER

Is Instantly Killed by a Blow on the Chin.

Word is received from Findlay of the killing of George G. Guyer, a carpenter of that place, and a former resident of Perrysburg.

In setting up some fixtures in the barroom of the Delmonico Hotel, he accidentally broke a window glass. This angered George Kautz, the proprietor, who attempted to put Guyer out of the place and when he resisted, struck Guyer a heavy blow under his chin breaking his neck. Guyer dropped and died almost instantly. Kautz was arrested.

THE OLD INDIAN TREE.

This Time Honored Story Again Given to the Public by One of Our Neighbors.

On the west bank of the river, within the village of Maumee, and directly opposite Fort Meigs, stands a venerable elm, that since my earliest recollection, has been known as "The Old Indian Tree." and I find it mentioned in works of more or less historical accuracy that treat of the times we are now considering. According to the generally accepted statement of fact, while Fort Meigs was in a state of siege the troops that were marching to its relief were seriously harassed by an Indian sharpshooter who, for a long time, the Americans were unable to locate. He seemed able to pick off officers or men at will, and was working sad havoc when a lynx-eyed Kentuckian saw a puff of smoke within the foliage of the old elm, and an instant thereafter a comrade fell at his side, shot through the head. The Kentuckian was a sharpshooter himself, and while he had nothing for his guidance other than the puff of smoke referred to, the distance making it impossible for his eye to penetrate the foliage, he drew bead upon the spot he had fixed within his mind as worth a trial of his skill, and fired. His judgment was good and his aim true, for, a moment later, a painted savage fell headlong out of the elm, shot to death. From a time to which my memory runs not back to the contrary, there has been a block of wood in the tree crotch wherein the Indian sharpshooter was seated, when the fatal bullet reached him. It is there today, worn and weatherbeaten, but very suggestive to those who know the history of the "Old Indian Tree."—Toledo Sunday Courier.

The above prettily written tale can be said to be true as far as the story itself is concerned but we are afraid the Courier man is not the happy possessor of the bare truth concerning the "tree." The original elm tree was felled to the ground years ago by the woodman, but we suppose the one standing near the place at the present time will answer the same purpose for completing this oft told tale.

Russell B. Chilcote Dead.

Last Sunday at 2 p. m., at his home in Perry township, occurred the death of Russell B. Chilcote from a complication of diseases. Deceased was a highly respected pioneer resident of Wood county, having been born here 57 years ago. He was a brother of the Doctors Chilcote of Bloomdale and a veteran of the civil war, having served in the 49th and 144th O. V. I. The funeral was held Tuesday at 2 o'clock from the East Union church. Mr. Chilcote had been south all winter for his health. He leaves a wife but no children.

Bad management keeps more people in poor circumstances than any other cause. To be successful one must look ahead and plan ahead so that when a favorable opportunity presents itself he is ready to take advantage of it. A little forethought will also save much expense and valuable time. A prudent and careful man will keep a bottle of Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy in the house. The shiftless fellow will wait until necessity compels it and then ruin his best horse going for a doctor and have a big doctor bill to pay, besides; one pays out 25 cents, the other is out a hundred dollars and then wonders why his neighbor is getting richer while he is getting poorer. DROWNED AT DETROIT.

Clifford Smith of Toledo Meets a Sad Death.

The many friends of Clifford Smith, a bright minded, strong, athletic boy of Toledo, one just entering manhood, were greatly shocked and pained at the sad intelligence brought to Toledo of his accidental drowning at Belle Isle, Detroit.

Being just a little too late in making the boat as it pushed away from the dock at Belle Isle, Tuesday evening, Clifford ran and jumped catching the rail of the boat just as it swung around when he was ground against the dock and pushed into the water. The body was found Wednesday morning badly crushed.

He was the son of Barton Smith and wife of Toledo and the sympathy of the whole community goes out to them in their sad bereavement.

Deceased was 20 years of age, a graduate of the Toledo High school in '96 and had been attending the university of Ann Arbor.
